Make IAC Your Online Information Source This Influenza Season Be sure to visit www.immunize.org/influenza often!

2010–11 marks the first season of implementing universal influenza vaccination in the United States. The waning days of summer are a reminder that influenza vaccination is beginning in clinics, healthcare institutions, schools, businesses, pharmacies, and drive-through clinics across the country. The challenge to vaccinate everyone now rests with healthcare professionals everywhere. To help you carry out your influenza vaccination activities this season, the Immunization Action Coalition (IAC) offers one-stop online access to essential materials, resources, and recommendations at www.immunize.org/influenza.

IAC's influenza web page is organized into three columns: The left side provides direct links to immunization materials for patients and staff, and the two columns on the right offer links to influenza-related recommendations, news and information, journal articles and case reports, as well as related topics. Read on for more details.

Hot off the Presses

Check the box on the top left for important releases from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Food and Drug Administration (FDA), and additional organizations with authoritative information about vaccines.

Handouts for Patients & Staff

Looking for standing orders for influenza vaccination, screening questionnaires for contraindications, or declination forms for staff? Check here first for influenza-related handouts for patients and staff.

Vaccine Information Statements (VISs)

Links are provided to both influenza VISs (inactivated vaccine and live, intranasal vaccine), which are available in English and dozens of other languages.

Ask the Experts: Influenza

Experts from CDC answer challenging and timely questions about influenza vaccination. View the up-to-date compilation of influenza vaccination Q&As for healthcare professionals.

Official Recommendations for Influenza Vaccination

The Vaccine Policy and Licensure web section provides direct links to official and authoritative vaccine information from governmental agencies such as CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) and the FDA, as well as policy statements from the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP).

Package Inserts for Influenza Vaccine

Organized by vaccine, the web section of Package Inserts saves you time: All package inserts and additional product approval information for vaccines licensed for use in the United States are provided.

Links to More Influenza Vaccination Resources

The influenza web page gives you direct links to much more, including PreventInfluenza.org, [Flu Vaccine Locator](http://Flu Vaccine Locator), [Vaccines in the News](http://Vaccines in the News), [Influenza Journal Articles](http://Influenza Journal Articles), [Influenza Photos](http://Influenza Photos), and [Influenza Videos](http://Influenza Videos).

Visit the Diseases and Vaccines section of immunize.org often. It is a central organizing hub of IAC's website, comprising substantial and significant information on 19 vaccine-preventable diseases.

Subscribe to IAC's Online Publications

Finally, we suggest that web users who want to stay up to date with vaccine news and information subscribe to our free online publications: IAC Express, a weekly email news service, and Needle Tips and Vaccinate Adults, essential online publications for healthcare professionals who provide vaccination services. You can subscribe to any or all of these at one time by visiting www.immunize.org/subscribe.
